Chimney Fires False Alarm Alert Firemen

Three chimney fires and a "fire in a window" occupied Appomattox Volunteers Saturday and Monday.

A false alarm early Saturday evening "started the fire ball rolling", to put it one way—with a neighbor reporting another neighbor's house afire. There was a fire, alright — a fire in the fireplace, which the home owners were enjoying, oblivious to the call made by helpful friends.

Chimney fires were reported Saturday about 7 at the Roland Ferguson home, near Vera; Saturday about 11 p.m. at the Lewis Harvey home near Trent's Hatchery; and Monday, about 8 a.m. at the Dick Webb home near Evergreen.

Assistant Fire Chief "Skinney" Woodrifge asks everyone to telephone Complete fire information, including the name and telephone number of the person calling, and exact directions to the fire.

Abbitt Announces Jackson Day Chm.

RICHMOND — State Sen. Fred W. Bateman, of Newport News, and Mrs. Claud M. Whitley, of Hampton, were named Wednesday as co-chairmen of Virginia Democrats' 1965 Jefferson - Jackson Day celebration.

Their appointments were announced by Rep. Watkins M. Abbitt, of Appomattox, state Democratic chairman.

A speaker of national prominence in the Democratic party will be announced later, Abbitt said.

The dinner and dance in honor of the party's patron saints, Thomas Jefferson and Andrew Jackson, is planned for Saturday, Feb. 20, at Hotel John Marshall.

Rebellets Top Brookville 52-41

The Rebellets took their fifth victory of the year and control of first place in the district as the Brookville Bees went down in defeat Friday night.

The hard - fought game saw the lead go back and forth between the two teams but in the fourth quarter, the Rebellettes took a demanding lead and the Bees couldn't catch up.

Game scoring honors went to Mary Libby Tolley with 29 points. Patie Cox had 20 points for the losers. The Rebellettes face the Rustburg Red Devils Friday night at Rustburg.

Announce Birth Of Granddaughter

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Meadows, of Pamplin, announces the birth of a granddaughter, Janet Martin, to Mr. and Mrs. John Edwards, of Charlotte Court House, Tuesday around 8:30 p.m. at Virginia Baptist Hospital, Lynchburg. Mr and Mrs. Edwards have one other daughter, Jane, and a son, Johnny. Mrs. Edwards and Janet returned home Saturday and are doing fine.

The Pastor Speaks

Rev. Thomas Waddill

What are you trying to do to your Children?

To a large extent we can control and determine what our children turn out to be by the training we give them in the home. There are always exceptions but we need to recognize the fact that a child is molded by the many forces exerted upon him and the way we as parents control and help him respond to these forces largely determines whether our child goes out to meet life strong and confident or weak and cowering.

In the book of Deuteronomy Moses Commands the children of Israel to "teach them (God's commands) diligently unto thy children", and in Proverbs we read, Train up a child in the way he should go and when he is old he will not depart from it." The Bible teaches that it is the home which is responsible for the training and guidance of children. When parents refuse to do the job it just doesn't get done.

In Bible days training in almost every field was carried out in the home. Today we have many helpers: the school, the church, clubs and youth organization, etc. We ought to make every use possible of these aids but we must remember that they exist to help parents do an adequate job of training their children. They were not establishes to become nor can they become a substitute for the home in the training of our children.

It is perhaps unfortunate that we cannot see the result of our efforts as parents for so long a time. We have only one chance, and very little possibility of correcting our errors. When a potter fashions a vessel he can see the flaws and correct them or start over. Not so the parent. I once had a tire recapped. To all appearences the tire was in good shape, but when the pressure and heat of the recapping process was applied a weak spot became apparent and the tire was useless

As we live with and care for our children day by day let us train them in such a manner that the pressures and heat of life will make them stronger and more sturdy through the years of their lives.

Thomas A. Waddill, Pastor
Spout Spring Baptist Church

Correction

Effective January 1, 1965 Saving customers at Farmers National Bank, Appomattox, Va. will begin having their 4 per cent per year interest paid and compounded quarterly.

Customers will no longer have to wait a one-year period before the 4 per cent rate can be reflected in their accounts.

In last week's TIMES-VIRGINIAN the following statement should have read thus: "Before the new ruling went into effect, member banks of the Federal Reserve system were not allowed to pay more than 3 and one-half percent interest." As published, the statement read "3 percent." We regret this error and trust that this correction will set the record straight.

Christ Has Enemines

Lesson for January 24, 1965

We sometimes think that if Jesus were only alive on this earth he could win friends and followers for himself where we so often fail even when we try. We talk about goodness; but he was goodness itself, divine goodness, in person. How could he fail to be winsome? The fact is, he was winsome, but he had enemies all the same.

We can expect some people not to like him. This female atheist who is now almost a professional antireligionist, and is noisily vowing if she can to drive religion and the church out of existence (she's wasting her time); also criminals and cranks of many kinds — we are not astonished when they scoff at religion and anyone who takes it seriously, as Jesus did. But the worst of it is that Jesus not only had enemies; but they were from the most respectable and religious circles. What did they have against him?

Too Deep, Too High

One thing came out in the incident of the paralyzed man let down through the roof of the house where Jesus was speaking. If Jesus had just cured the man — it was all he hoped for— there would have been no complaints unless he had done the cure on the Sabbath. But Jesus offended some people by going too deep and too high at the same time. Jesus probed beneath the surface of the man's life, and said "Your sins are forgiven." How did Jesus know this bedridden man had any sins? What business was it of his? Live and let live, why not? But the offense was still worse. Jesus spoke with absolute assurance. Not, I pray your sin may be forgiven, but: "Your sins are forgiven!" Jesus not only knew what had gone on in the patient's mind — for a sick person's sins are most likely to be of the mind — but he virtually claimed to know and so speak for the mind of God. If in dealing with the patient he had gone too high. At least, so it seem to his critics. They seem not to have considered this point: What if Jesus' claims are true? Suppose he really can detect mental sin, suppose he actually does know the mind of God?

There is in all religions a certain kind of thing we may call religious etiquette. The right way and time to stand or kneel and pray, the right clothes to wear, the right words to use in prayer. One form of such etiquette (another name for it is ceremonialism) much prized in Jesus' time was fasting. Fasting is not wrong; but when it is done by clock or calendar instead of spontaneously, and especially when it become a substitute for real heartfelt contrition for sins committed, it can be a sinister and a type of hypocrisy. Repentance is slow and difficult process; fasting can soon be done and over with. Repentance makes a different person out of you. Fasting can leave you just as you were, or maybe a bit thinner. Jesus fasted from time to time, we know; but his disciples did not. He never rebuked them for not doing so; and this again "riled" the Pharisees. Form is to religion what an eggshell is to an egg. It keeps the contents from getting lost, perhaps; but the eggshell should never be mistaken for the egg itself.

Dissreputable Friends

Another reason why Jesus was bitterly disliked was the sort of people he spent time with. He knew and used to have dinner with some of the more notorious characters of the town. Now the enemies of Jesus supposed that if he (Jesus) was a man of such a dynamic sort that it would rub off on the others.

Kennedy Halves For Donors

Blood donors lining up on Monday, February 1 at Liberty Baptist Church, may find themselves with a shiny souvenir of their visit, a new Kennedy half-dollar.

Willis B. Inge, who received 18 pints of blood during a hospital stay December 1963 and January of last year, is an enthusiastic promotor of the need for blood donors.

He is donating twenty Kennedy half dollars to be given out—not through a drawing — but through a "surprise plan" being planned by Dr. A. A. Pratrick and his Blood Program assistants.

Supervisors Make Change In Date

County Supervisors have changed their regular meeting date from the second Wednesday of each month to the second Friday of each month in the County Clerk's office at 9 a.m. This change, made during the Board meeting on January 13, becomes effective Feb. 12.

The significance of general aviation in the U.S. is demonstrated by the fact that in 1962 represented over 98 percent of all civilian aircraft and flew 82 percent of the aircraft hours flown.

Christianity and the Christian — was the title of last Sabbath's Sabbath School lesson. The memory verse text was — "I am crucified with Christ; nevertheless I live; yet not I but Christ liveth within me: and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me.' Gal 2:29. Aim of the lesson is to define Christianity as a divine - human relationship.

The Lord Jesus was the foundation of the whole Jewish economy—But the Jews exalted the forms and ceremonies and had lost sight of their object. These maxims and traditions became an obstacle in their understanding and practice of true religion — They demanded signs instead of a Saviour and the force of arms not by violent interpositions was the kingdom of God to prevail, but by implanting a new principle, in the hearts of men.

David asked these questions in Psalms 8:3, 4: 144 "What is man that thou takeh knowledge of him, or the son of man that thou makeh account of him?" John 3:16. Rom 5:8 gives the answers to these questions, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten son, that whosoever believeth on him should not perish, but have everlasting life." "But God commended his love to us—Ward in that while we were yet sinners Christ died for us."

It is through Christ earth is again linked with heaven With his own merits Christ has bridged the gulf which sin had made so that the ministering angels can hold communion with man, Christ connects fallen man in his weakness and his helplessness, with the source of infinite power What therefore should be the prayer of Christians "Azzin David was the answer 'Preserve me O God, for in thee do I put my trust.' 'I have set the Lord before me for He is at my right hand, I shall not be moved." Ps. 16:1,8
